

The Black Scroll Network, History & Tours

Are you eager to learn more and visit the sites of Detroit's African American history?

You need to join a Black Scroll History Tour or a Black Scroll presentation!

- Book a tour for your school/class, church or youth group, family reunion, fraternity/sorority, or community organization. You can visit the Detroit sites of the Underground Railroad, as well as the historic sites of Faith and the Fight for Freedom.
- On the Royal African Tour at the Detroit Institute of Arts, learn how African art and culture is important to understanding Black history. Or, Book one of our African American history tours at the Detroit Historical Museum and learn Detroit's African American history from the 1700s to Motown Records.
- Learn about and visit the historic Black communities, especially Black Bottom & Paradise Valley, the African American business empire in Detroit.
- Learn about Detroit's history of rebellions, riots, and uprisings as well Detroit's music history, activism, and Detroit's most historic African American sites.

Who We Are

The Black Scroll Network, History & Tours came into being in 2013. After years of leading tours for free, the founder of the company saw the need for people to have a personal experience with the history of African Americans and Black people throughout the Diaspora. This is especially true in Detroit, MI, where the company was founded and is based.

This city, which is about 85% African American, has a rich history, from enslaved Africans and Indigenous People to being a major station on the Underground Railroad which Black people used to escape enslavement, to a Black economic and residential center, known as Black Bottom & Paradise Valley to numerous events, leaders and figures in history.

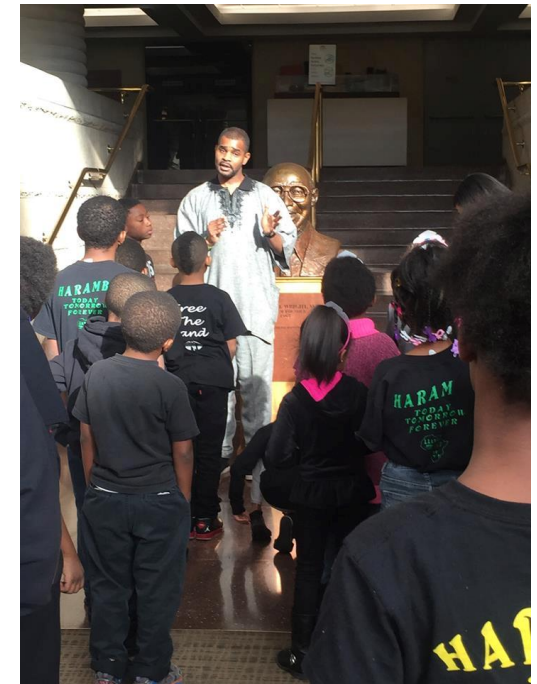

We offer tours in Detroit, other places in Michigan, and even historical sites throughout the United States.

History Is Our Business, It Should Be Yours Too!

The Significance of Detroit

Detroit is Special

Detroit is changing every day. Downtown, Midtown and the Corktown neighborhoods are popular venues for young professionals. People are touring and visiting Detroit and learning about the new developments, restaurants, bars and nightlife.

However, what is being missed in a lot of the hipster hoopla about the "new Detroit," is the HISTORY, especially the RICH African American history of Detroit.

And THAT'S what Black Scroll Network, History & Tours is ALL ABOUT!

Do you know that the Underground Railroad, Paradise Valley, and the Nation of Islam are all major parts of Detroit's History?

Visit the sites, stand in the same places where historic people, places and events once stood!
